

Regina

Museum

Home

Discover

Location

Events

About

Home

Regina

Museum

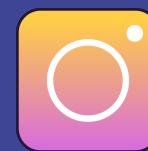

Welcome

Welecome to regina mesuem, The Royal Saskatchewan Museum (RSM) and the University of Regina have begun work on a research project involving great horned owls that includes a unique citizen science component. If you see a great horned owl, we want to know. We are interested in sightings outside of cities and south of the tree line in the agricultural zone (grassland and aspen parkland).

The Friends of the Royal Saskatchewan Museum works to promote curiosity about the wonders of Saskatchewan through its exceptional public programming, memorable gift shop souvenirs and aiding the Royal Saskatchewan Museum with their exhibit and research initiatives. As a charitable, not-for-profit organization, we can do all of this with your generous support.

Regina

Museum

Welcome

Welecome to regina mesuem, The Royal Saskatchewan Museum (RSM) and the University of Regina have begun work on a research project involving great horned owls that includes a unique citizen science component. If you see a great horned owl, we want to know. We are interested in sightings outside of cities and south of the tree line in the agricultural zone (grassland and aspen parkland).

The Friends of the Royal Saskatchewan Museum works to promote curiosity about the wonders of Saskatchewan through its exceptional public programming, memorable gift shop souvenirs and aiding the Royal Saskatchewan Museum with their exhibit and research initiatives. As a charitable, not-for-profit organization, we can do all of this with your generous support.

Regina

Museum

Welcome

Welecome to regina mesuem, The Royal Saskatchewan Museum (RSM) and the University of Regina have begun work on a research project involving great horned owls that includes a unique citizen science component. If you see a great horned owl, we want to know. We are interested in sightings outside of cities and south of the tree line in the agricultural zone (grassland and aspen parkland).

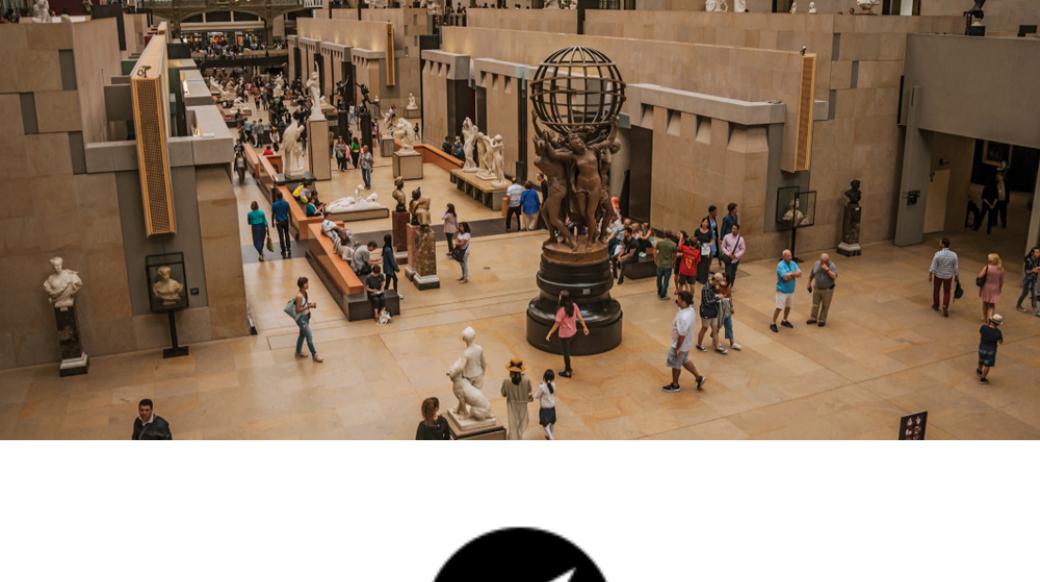

The Friends of the Royal Saskatchewan Museum works to promote curiosity about the wonders of Saskatchewan through its exceptional public programming, memorable gift shop souvenirs and aiding the Royal Saskatchewan Museum with their exhibit and research initiatives. As a charitable, not-for-profit organization, we can do all of this with your generous support.

Regina

Museum

CTV | Get a look inside the new exhibit

Watch Now

Yale News | A crab's inland odyssey, captured in amber

Watch Now

Royal Saskatchewan Museum, U of R partnering on urban wildlife project

Watch Now

Crowded house: Royal Saskatchewan Museum Annex overflowing

Watch Now

Sask. researchers name new bee species after Chris Hadfield

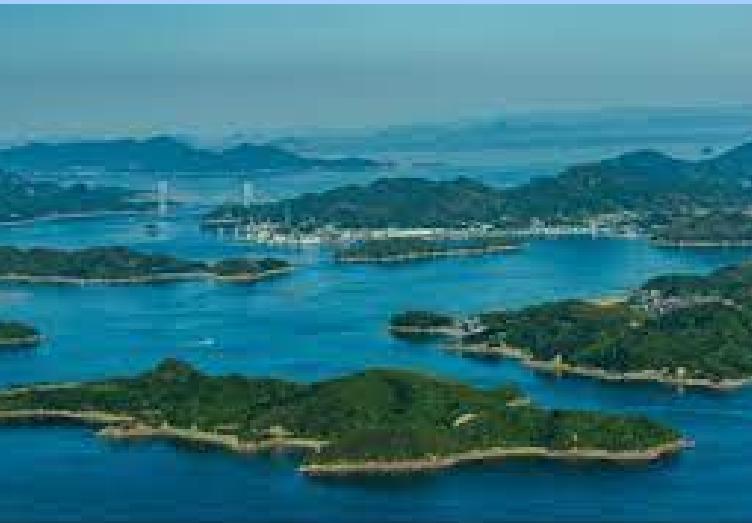

Watch Now

CTV | Get a look inside the new exhibit

Yale News | A crab's inland odyssey, captured in amber

shutterstock.com - 1750829534

X

Royal Saskatchewan Museum, U of R partnering on urban wildlife project

Crowded house: Royal Saskatchewan Museum Annex overflowing

Sask. researchers name new bee species after Chris Hadfield

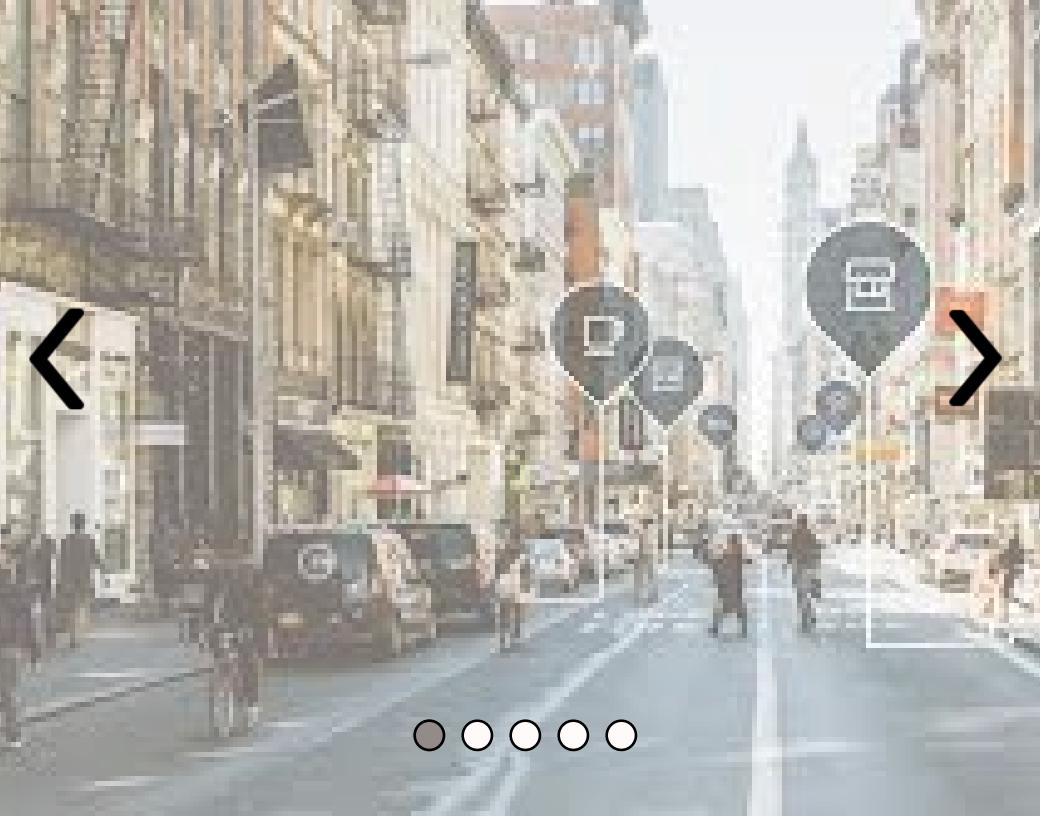

X

Regina

Museum

Location

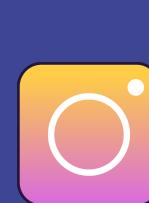

Our mandate is to explore the subject of human rights, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, in order to enhance the public's understanding of human rights, to promote respect for others, and to encourage reflection and dialogue.

As with all of Canada's national museums, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights plays an essential role in:

Preserving and promoting our heritage at home and abroad
Contributing to the collective memory and sense of identity of all Canadians
Being a source of inspiration, research, learning and entertainment that belongs to all Canadians

Providing, in both official languages, a service that is essential to Canadian culture and available to all

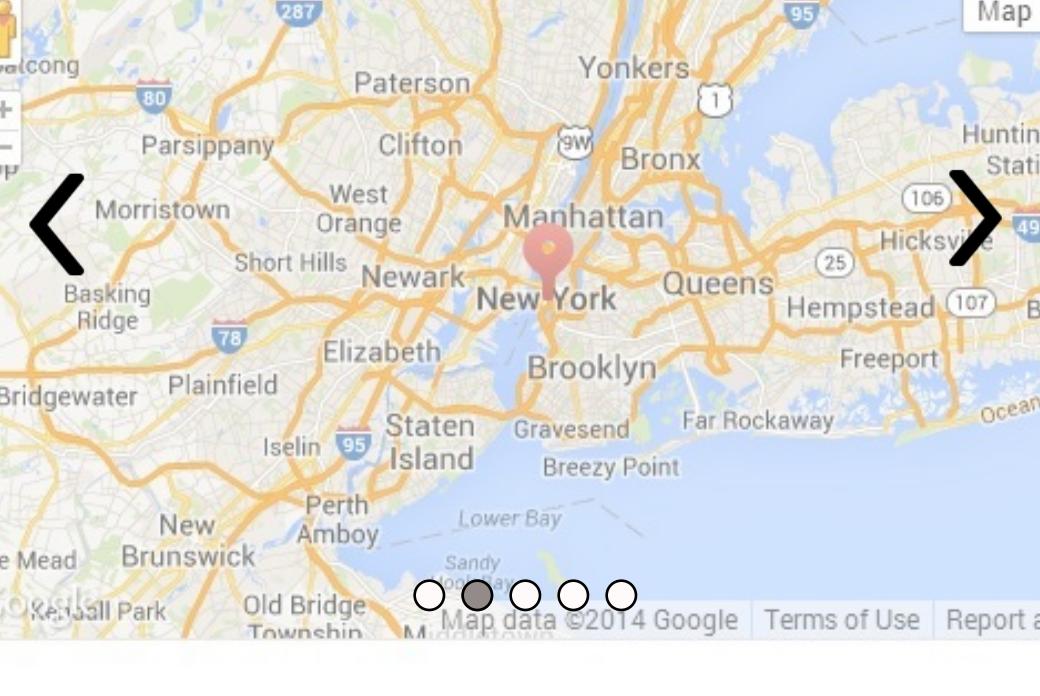

Regina

Museum

Location

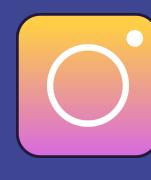

New York, NY, United States

Our mandate is to explore the subject of human rights, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, in order to enhance the public's understanding of human rights, to promote respect for others, and to encourage reflection and dialogue.

As with all of Canada's national museums, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights plays an essential role in:

- Preserving and promoting our heritage at home and abroad
- Contributing to the collective memory and sense of identity of all Canadians
- Being a source of inspiration, research, learning and entertainment that belongs to all Canadians
- Providing, in both official languages, a service that is essential to Canadian culture and available to all

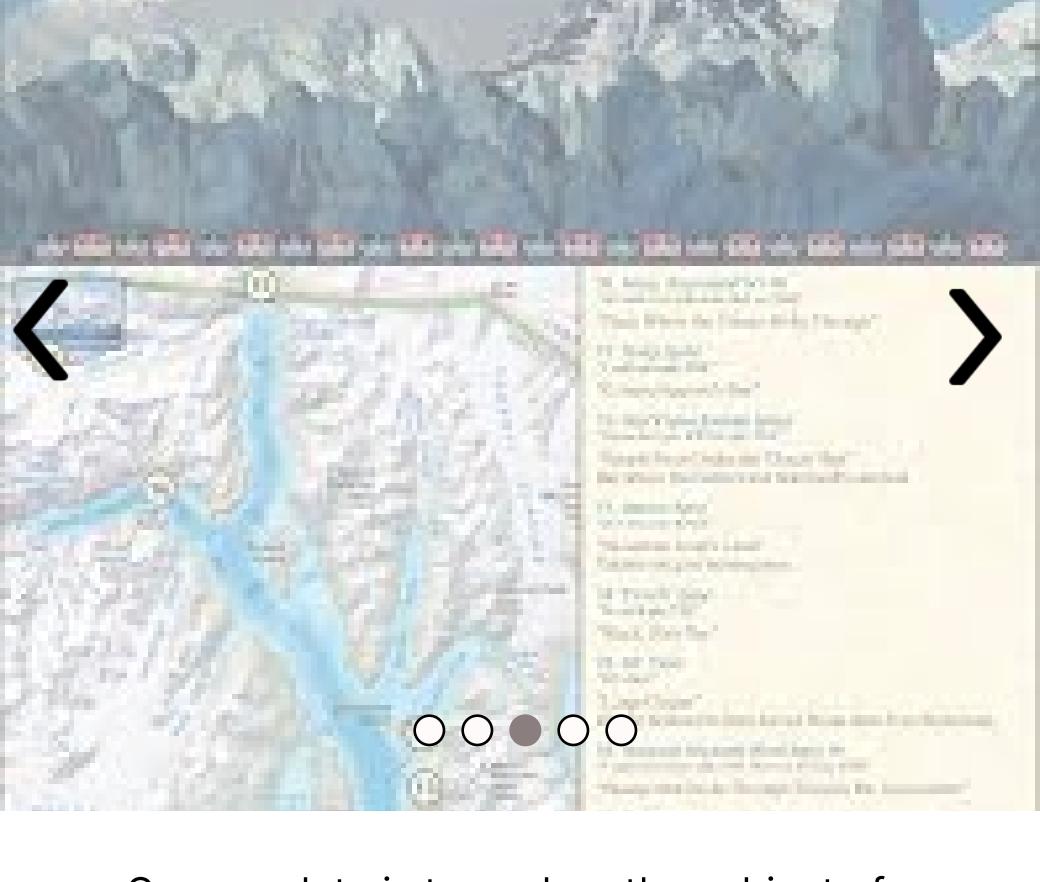

Regina

Museum

Location

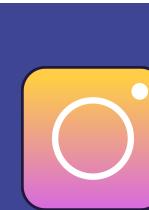

Our mandate is to explore the subject of human rights, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, in order to enhance the public's understanding of human rights, to promote respect for others, and to encourage reflection and dialogue.

As with all of Canada's national museums, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights plays an essential role in:

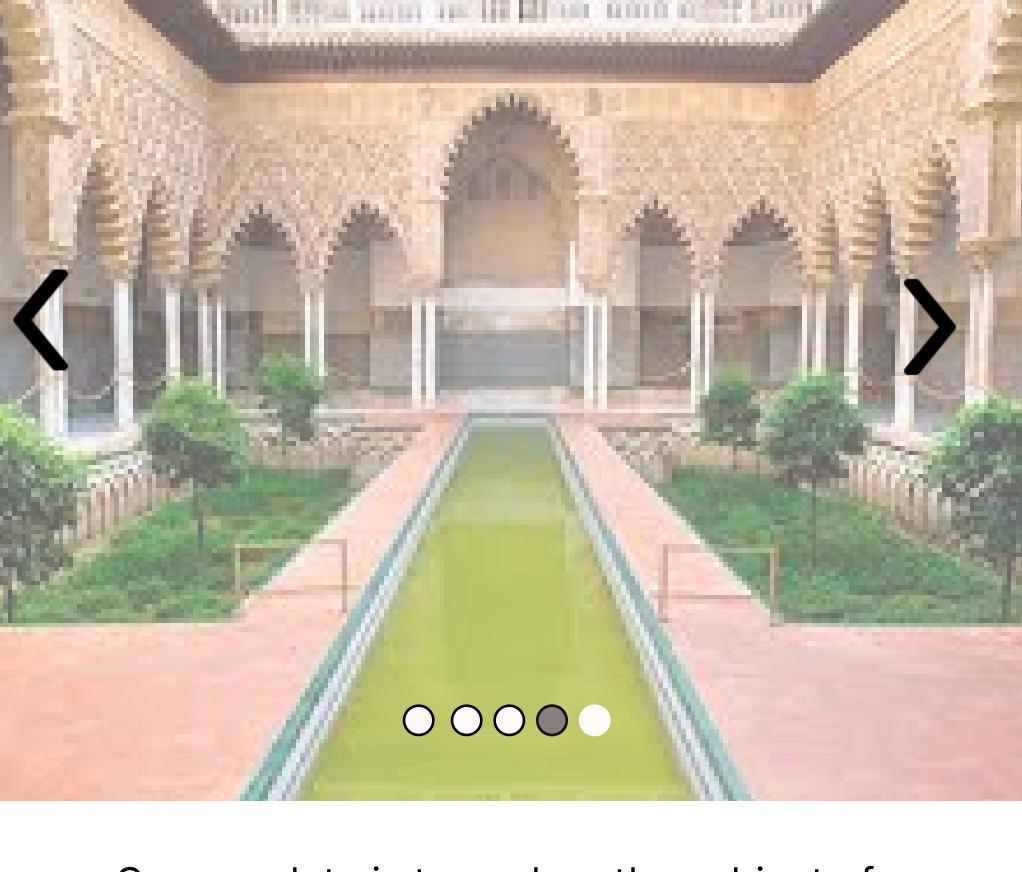

Preserving and promoting our heritage at home and abroad
Contributing to the collective memory and sense of identity of all Canadians
Being a source of inspiration, research, learning and entertainment that belongs to all Canadians

Providing, in both official languages, a service that is essential to Canadian culture and available to all

Location

Our mandate is to explore the subject of human rights, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, in order to enhance the public's understanding of human rights, to promote respect for others, and to encourage reflection and dialogue.

As with all of Canada's national museums, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights plays an essential role in:

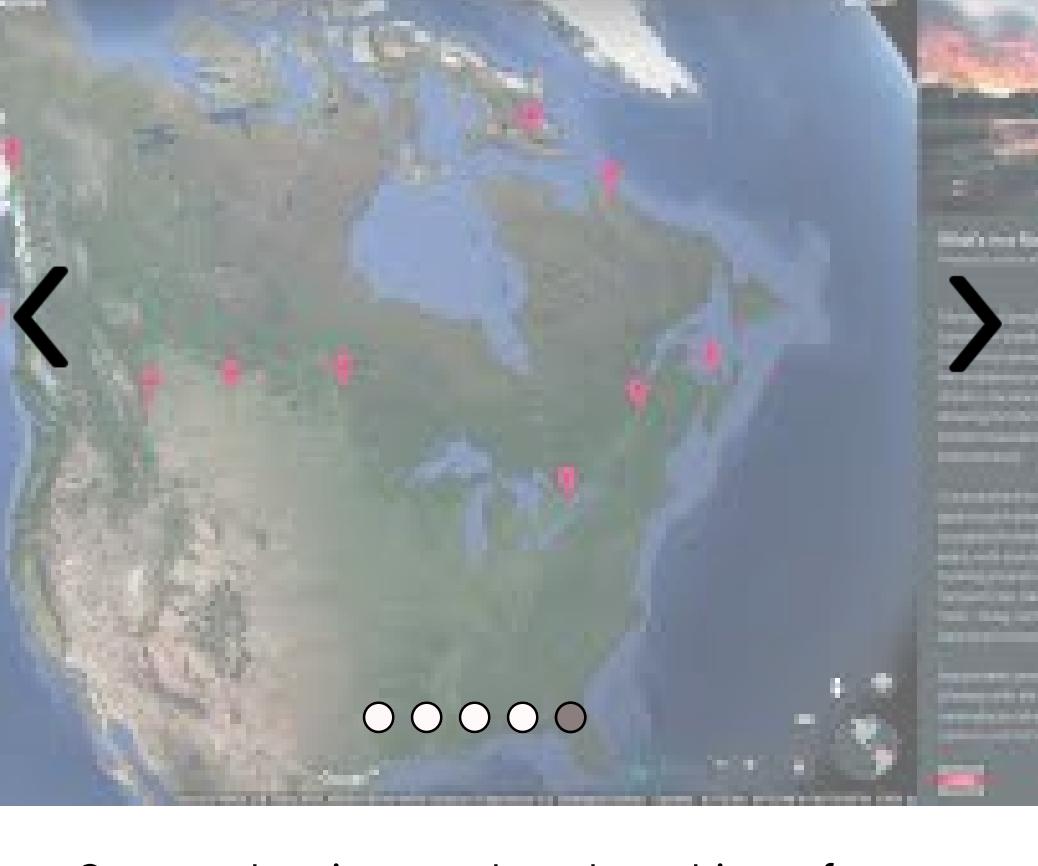

Preserving and promoting our heritage at home and abroad
Contributing to the collective memory and sense of identity of all Canadians
Being a source of inspiration, research, learning and entertainment that belongs to all Canadians

Providing, in both official languages, a service that is essential to Canadian culture and available to all

Location

Our mandate is to explore the subject of human rights, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada, in order to enhance the public's understanding of human rights, to promote respect for others, and to encourage reflection and dialogue.

As with all of Canada's national museums, the Canadian Museum for Human Rights plays an essential role in:

- Preserving and promoting our heritage at home and abroad
- Contributing to the collective memory and sense of identity of all Canadians
- Being a source of inspiration, research, learning and entertainment that belongs to all Canadians
- Providing, in both official languages, a service that is essential to Canadian culture and available to all

Events

Details

Cost : Free, registration required

Location: Level 1 Gallery, Bonnie & John Buhler Hall

Schedule: Exhibition opening: 5:30 p.m.

Panel discussion: 7:00 p.m. — 8:30 p.m.

Language: This event will be presented primarily in English. Accessibility: ASL interpretation will be available for the panel discussion.

We're marking this exhibition opening with an interactive panel discussion featuring Isha Khan, CEO of the Canadian Museum for Human Rights, Mohammed Hashim, Executive Director of the Canadian Race Relations Foundation, and Marie Chapman, CEO of the Canadian Museum of Immigration at Pier 21.

Please note: If you are a member, please log in using your member info to reserve your free tickets and get access to a special member reception. General admission tickets will not include access to the member reception.

Events

Details

Cost : Free, registration required

Location: Level 1 Gallery, Bonnie & John Buhler Hall

Schedule: Exhibition opening: 5:30 p.m.

Panel discussion: 7:00 p.m. — 8:30 p.m.

Language: This event will be presented primarily in English. Accessibility: ASL interpretation will be available for the panel discussion.

We're marking this exhibition opening with an interactive panel discussion featuring Isha Khan, CEO of the Canadian Museum for Human Rights, Mohammed Hashim, Executive Director of the Canadian Race Relations Foundation, and Marie Chapman, CEO of the Canadian Museum of Immigration at Pier 21.

Please note: If you are a member, please log in using your member info to reserve your free tickets and get access to a special member reception. General admission tickets will not include access to the member reception.

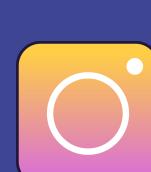

Regina

Museum

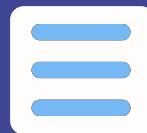

About Us

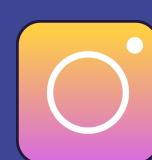

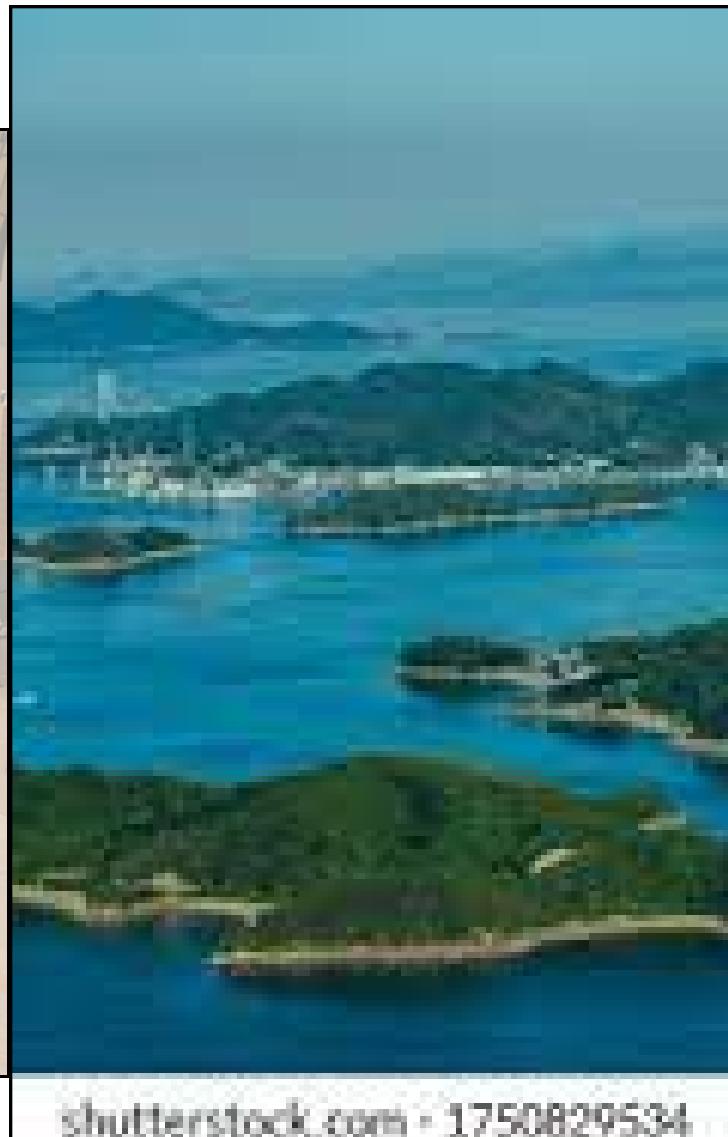

Regina

Museum

About Us

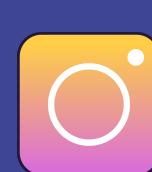

Regina

Museum

About Us

Regina

Museum

About Us

